ADMINISTRATIVE HISTORY

The Candora Society was incorporated in 1989 in response to the needs of the communities of Abbottsfield and Rundle Heights in northeast Edmonton, Alberta. The Candora Society was formed by people who lived or worked in the community and wanted to see changes. The society supports Canadians and immigrants and provides opportunities, education services and public relations. Candora works with disadvantaged people, single mothers, unemployed people or the working poor to create and increase people's capacity to live together, make choices and envision a good community.
